'Studying Performing Arts was a no-brainer for me. I knew the staff would push me to achieve the best that I could. Their investment in my success motivated me to achieve across all of my academic subjects – as I found my self esteem grow, along with my aspirations for the future. The confidence and skills I gained through studying Performing Arts has allowed me to easily adjust to university life.'

'My experience of studying Performing Arts was one of my favourite qualifications to achieve. It provided me with the freedom to express myself, whilst educating me on the industry. Performing Arts isn't just based around the idea of expression and jazz hands; it is much more than that. I feel that it helped me to discover myself whilst developing my confident in critical life skills.'

Creating leaders....

The skills that our students gain while studying Performing Arts are not only transferable throughout life and in a range of careers, but they have also helped some of our students reach leadership roles within Shoeburyness High School.

We are extremely proud that every academic year at least one of our Performing Arts students has successfully gained a place as Head Boy, Head Girl or one of the Deputy roles. Their Performing Arts training has helped them to fulfil the role with confidence, professionalism and to collaboratively work alongside the rest of their leadership team.

How has studying Performing Arts helped last year's Head Girl, Kayleigh Brown succeed in her role?

"Throughout school I never thought I would be capable enough to be the head girl but taking Performing Arts has given me the courage to "just go for it". I have learnt so much from talking to others and from the advice that the staff have given me. Through new, exciting challenges in Performing Arts, I have overcome my fears about talking in front of large crowds and I saw the potential I had to be something or someone I never thought I could be. It's not about how academic you are, but about being and believing in yourself."

Performing Arts has given me great confidence in myself and has allowed me to relate to a wide variety of people, to communicate in different ways and to tackle new challenges effectively. Leadership requires a strength that can be developed through performing, including working well as part of a team, organisation and a positive mental attitude. If you want to develop your confidence, performing can be a great catalyst for that, and it can help you to achieve things that are beyond your current aspirations. I would really recommend it.

How has studying Performing Arts helped Anna, our current Assistant Head Girl?

Subject Information:

Our exam board is RSL. The course is 60% internally assessed and 40% externally assessed. The course is graded from a level 1 Pass up to a level 2 Distinction*

Module structure

The course is split into a range of internally assessed units and an externally assessed unit.

Year 10 – You will study two units; Performing Arts Knowledge and Skill Development. The internal units are assessed through your practical work and portfolio of knowledge for each unit, the main focus of these units is to gain a broad range of practical experience and training within Performing Arts. These units are then marked by your class tutor and verified by the exam board.

Year 11 – After completing your internal units in year 10 you will then work on your externally assessed unit which is called Live Performance – Musical Theatre. The external unit is split between practical work and research which are completed under controlled conditions. This work is then marked externally by the exam board.

Don't just take our word for it.....

Hear from some of our current year 11 Performing Arts students

Victoria: 'The reason I chose to take Performing Arts is because I plan on involving it in my career path one way or another, whether it be teaching it to others or becoming an actor. Performing Arts allows you to interact with others that have the same interest, and you can make more friends from working in groups. The teachers make the subject fun to learn, and I promise that you will enjoy it!'

Josh: 'I chose performing arts because I enjoy all types of performing. When I joined in year 7, I performed in my amazing first show which has to be put down to the dedication of the amazing staff. Now it has to be said that if it wasn't down to the huge amounts of time put in by everyone around the department, we would not have award winning shows and such a high up-take in the subject. Being involved in the department and studying Performing Arts in year 10 is such a pleasure and something to be proud of.'

Gina: 'Acting allows you to be someone completely different and you can stray away from reality. Dancing is a way you can express yourself and your emotions, it makes you feel free. Performing Arts can also help you with singing. You can achieve your goals due to hard work and dedication! But knowing you won't sing your favourite songs out of tune, actually feels pretty great in my opinion.'

Daisy: 'I chose performing arts as it is something I enjoy doing but it's also a really good way to help build confidence, not only when performing but with lots of other things. It's a lesson I always look forward to having because it's lots of fun and all the teachers are very supportive so it's a lovely environment to work in.'

Lana: 'I chose performing arts because I love to perform. I love to sing, act and dance. When I joined in year 7, the performing arts department have always been so welcoming. The teachers are amazing! They put in so much of their own time into making school a better place for us. They spend their weekends at school to help us get the best possible shows we can. It's not just a department. It's a family. Everyone's always so supportive and caring, no matter whether it's performing arts related or not. Would highly recommend taking Performing Arts, because it can help you to get into a range of different jobs in the future and it can also help your confidence too! You learn so many different skills from taking Performing Arts.'

Cadie: 'My favourite thing about Performing Arts in year 10 is how no one will judge you. You can be as free and happy as you want and can be as weird as you want within dance, acting or even singing. It's a lot of freedom from other lessons and it's always good vibes from not only the students but the teachers as well.'

Becky: 'I picked Performing Arts because I enjoyed dancing and participating in all of the shows. I do not regret picking Performing Arts as one of my subjects as it is fun and we do dancing, singing and acting. I think if you are thinking about doing Performing Arts in year 10, you 100% should go for it.'
